Tutoring Experience

I've spent the past three years working with students in IB History and other curricula, providing tailored guidance to help them succeed in their studies. My students have improved their critical thinking and analytical skills while achieving high scores in their exams.

In addition to IB History, I've worked with GCSE and A-Level students, helping them navigate challenging coursework and assessments. My goal is always to make history relatable and engaging, so students can develop a lasting interest in the subject.
