Tutoring Experience

With 12 years of experience in tutoring Economics, I've had the pleasure of working with students across multiple curricula, including IB and A-Level. My aim has always been to provide a solid understanding of economic theory while making the subject approachable and engaging. I help students navigate IB Economics at both SL and HL levels, ensuring they are well-prepared for exams and assignments.

Throughout my career, I've also guided students in A-Level Economics and IGCSE Business Studies. I offer a practical, relatable approach to learning, helping students grasp even the most complex concepts with ease. My goal is to provide tailored support that helps students achieve their full potential, no matter where they start.

I've had the opportunity to work with students from diverse backgrounds, both in Europe and internationally. By creating a learning environment that's focused on individual needs, I've seen my students excel in their coursework and exams, often securing placements in top universities around the world.
